Radical Ride - This surfboard piece was a special project for me. I was inspired to create a surfboard work of art after seeing an art installation by Album surfboard company at the Ritz Carlton. I hand shaped the board myself and had Bashams surf shop in San Clemente do the glass job. This board is unique because of the fact that both sides are painted.

Matthew Laurence Knott - I am a multidisciplinary artist based in South Orange County, California. I am self-taught and best known for my eye-popping characters and obsession with color. Growing up I found my inspiration in comic books, cartoons, and street art. My goal is to distract viewers with my work and invoke a state of bliss and joy. My art has taken me around the world collaborating with brands such as Armani, Levono, and Samsung.
