Citizens of Humanity, AGOLDE, and GOLDSIGN each showcase a uniquely directional voice, and while we are incredibly proud of each brand's independence, we are even more so of the characteristics that unite them. Built upon a foundation of commitment to quality and uncompromising standards, we work to maintain our core values in everything we do. Much of our product is developed in Los Angeles and Turkey, most often at facilities that are owned by us; this allows us to have maximum control of our quality and an enhanced focus on sustainability efforts. We continue to cut to order to let the demand of our products drive our production and supply to minimize any excess products. We are committed to being thoughtful in the creation of our denim and are continuously working to lower ourâ€™
