Blackberries

Mix and match, layer and stack, vivid gold with silver and black.
So many looks from just a few pieces.

"I wanted to design jewelry that would offer wearable protection from the many radio waves and EMF's that bombard us daily from cell phones, wireless networks, and satellite transmissions. Nature's most most dense geometric shape is a collection of spheres, perfectly embodied in the shape of a blackberry. Theoretically, each tiny silver berry can absorb those waves, beautifully protecting the woman who wears it." -P. Voetsch
