Lucinda is an Internationally known muralist and painter born and raised in Glendale, AZ. She is Xicana: Apache and Yaqui Descent. In 2012 she began curating underground art shows, which led her to curate solo exhibits for local artists in Phoenix, AZ. In 2017, she was invited to paint for "Wall Therapy" in Rochester, NY, which kicked her art career into action. She has shown in several Galleries and Museums across the Nation including ChimMaya Gallery in East LA, La Bodega San Diego, CA, Frost Gallery in Brooklyn, NY, Tangent Gallery in Milwaukee, ASU Gammage, Arizona History Museum, and NAU Art Museum to name a few. In 2021, She was selected and invited by the US Embassy of France to paint a 7 story mural in Marseille, France for the neighborhood of Plan d'ou.

Lucinda is quickly gaining popularity around the country due to her incredible talent as a muralist and commitment to communities of all backgrounds. Her murals and paintings are influenced stylistically and thematically by Chicano, Indigenous Art and Spirituality. She embodies the aesthetic and ideals of Chicano Culture, Native issues and sets it in a contemporary context creating a dialect between art and society. Most recently, she was selected as the first indigenous Xicana female in NFL history to be the Marque Artist for Superbowl LVII.
