About the Paintings:Â

This series, aptly titled, delves into the unique ways our individual perspectives are shaped by personal experiences. The featured artworks in this auction draw inspiration from the majestic glacial formations of the polar regions – landscapes that have long sparked intense discussions on global warming.

However, the intention of these paintings is not to take a specific stance on environmental issues. Instead, they invite viewers to engage with the art and form their own viewpoints.

The works encourage reflection on how our personal experiences and biases might color ourâ€
